

The benefits of VoIP phone systems for intercompany communications

5 WAYS VOIP CAN IMPROVE YOUR COMPANY'S COMMUNICATIONS

1.) LOWER COSTS

VoIP Phone Systems can save your business money on its communication costs. As VoIP phone systems work over the internet, phone call costs are significantly lower than when using a traditional phone line.

2.) GREATER FLEXIBILITY

Using a VoIP phone system means that your employees can keep in touch with their team wherever they are. It also means that hiring no longer depends on the candidate's location so you can source the best, not the closest.

3.) TEAM CONNECTION

VoIP helps ensure that all team members feel like an important and valued part of the team. Features like instant chat, video conferencing, screen sharing and whiteboards, allow all team members to have the same level of input and interaction with colleagues wherever they are.

4.) BOOST PRODUCTIVITY

Hybrid working requires monitoring employee productivity both onsite and off. VoIP phones provide analytics that give you detailed reports for each employee activity and output, acting as an incentive for employees to monitor and maintain their own productivity levels as well.

5.) CUSTOMER CONTACT

Customer communication is also a top priority. Integrations between your CRM and VoIP phone system ensure that your team has access anytime and anywhere, so that no customer leads or sales opportunities are missed when team members are working remotely.
